THE MORNING'S NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

Exoneration of a Naval Officer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Surgeon-General P. T. Wales, United States Navy, made a report to the Secretary of the Navy today that, in compliance with his directions, he had made a post-mortem examination of the body of Thomas Duncan, late a seaman on board the Portsmouth, and found "that the heart was the seat of extensive fatty degeneration and enlargement of long standing; that the aorta was dilated into an aneurism, which had burst, causing immediate death by hemorrhage. The diseased condition of the parts show clearly that death was imminent, and that its occurrence did not depend upon the punishment that had been inflicted." The report has been approved by the Secretary, and it is considered a complete exoneration of the officers of the Portsmouth.

The Fisheries Treaty.

Mr. W. W. Rice, chairman of the sub-committee having the matter in charge, reported this morning to the full Foreign Affairs Committee of the House his joint resolution, which provides that notice shall be given to the British Government of the termination of the fisheries clauses of the treaty of Washington. The report was ordered to be reported to the House for printing and be recommitted, but has not yet been adopted, as the committee deemed it advisable to withold the resolution until it could be ascertained whether any negotiations are pending between the two countries looking to the same end. If that shall prove to be the case, some members of the committee are disposed to postpone action.

It was supposed that the State Department had commenced such a negotiation, but the progress seems to have been very slow, and it may be so slow that Congress, notwithstanding the correspondence, may feel disposed to give the notice. Some New England members certainly are of that opinion.

Woman Suffrage.

The advocates of woman suffrage have gained another victory. The House committee on rules, to which a number of resolutions were referred asking for a Committee on Woman Suffrage, this morning agreed to report favorably upon the matter. Mr. Reed, of Maine, is instructed to make the report.

Civil Service Study.

The Senate Committee on civil service will tomorrow hear Dorman B. Enton on the subject, and will receive from Postmaster Pierson, of New York, a full account of the mode of selecting the force and conducting the work of that office. In a few days the committee is to have some information in relation to the New York Custom House.

Notes.

The House committee on judiciary met today and agreed to hear Mr. Cannon, of Utah, on Wednesday next, on the subject of polygamy.

The House committee on appropriation devoted their entire session to the consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. With the exception of a few minor details the bill is ready to be reported to the House.

The House committee on banking and currency today further discussed Mr. Crapo's bill providing for the extension of bank charters, and agreed to take a final vote on the measure on Tuesday next. Representative Buckner will submit a substitute for the Crapo extension bill on Tuesday next, and probably make a minority report to the House on the subject.

FOREIGN.

Anarchy and Bloody Battle Between Contesting Factions in Peru.

Slosson Wins in the International Billiard Tournament.

Peruvian Anarchy.

PANAMA, Jan. 25.—The complete success of Admiral Lynch's expedition to the Peruvian mountain town is now confirmed. In other parts of Peru various self-appointed rulers are having a lively time. Villaiccencio, one of Garcia Calderon's officials, got a few men together at Chincha and entrenched himself. Mas, the Prefect of Ica, marched against him, and in the fight which ensued the greater part of the town was burned or damaged and cane-fields and vineyards have suffered severely. Foreigners are heavy losers. Contests have taken place in other sections of the country. Montero has had difficulties with his men and it is reported has met a violent death at their hands. Suarez, another leader, representing the Calderon party, recently left Arequipa to attack Ayacucho, in which city the Pierolists were at the time in power. While on his march the Ayacucho people threw Pierola over and proclaimed in favor of J. T. Caneviro, now in Europe. This made no difference to Suarez, and he continued toward the city for the purpose of compelling it to submit to his Chief. Secada, who was in command at Ayacucho, marched out to meet him. Suarez crossed the bridge with four pieces of light artillery and the couple of regiments which formed his army, and a skirmish ensued, which lasted some hours and terminated in the death of two or three hundred unfortunate Cholos and the complete rout of Secada. Suarez is now in Ayacucho, where it is supposed he will proclaim himself as Director, after the manner of other Peruvian leaders.

Minister Morton's Banquet.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—At the banquet given by Mr. Morton, this evening, the Marquis de Rochambeau, replying to Mr. Morton, said he was not assuming too much by entertaining the belief, that as the French had shared in the triumph of America they would be willing again to lend aid, if needed. He drank to the memory of George Washington. The Marquis de Lafayette expressed his pleasure at being received by Americans in France with the same cordiality as that with which he had been received in the United States. France, he said, would never forget the many expressions of gratitude she had received from America. Gen. Fairchild, late United States Minister to Spain, and formerly Consul General at Paris, said that France had always been one of the closest friends of the United States since the infancy of the republic.

Ireland.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 3.—The police here have seized the stereotype plates and 20,000 copies of the United Ireland.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—Mr. Harris, who was one of the traversers in the state trials has been unconditionally released from Galway jail.

Mr. A. M. Sullivan has definitely resigned his seat in the House of Commons for Meath.

Slosson Wins the Billiard Match.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Slosson won the billiard match tonight, making a total of 3000 points; Vignaux's total count was 2553. The attendance was very large. At the commencement of the play this evening, Vignaux declared that if he lost he would demand revenge in an eight days' game of 4000 points. Slosson's average tonight was 32, and Vignaux's 26. The enthusiasm shown over the result is indescribable. There were repeated cries of "Vive Slosson."

Tit for Tat.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The Journal de St. Petersburg, commenting on the proceedings of the meeting at the Mansion House on the 1st inst., to protest against the outrages committed upon the Jews in Russia, says:—"Englishmen would consider it strange if similarly sweeping language was indulged in in discussing English legislation for Ireland."

TERRIBLE MINE EXPLOSION.

Thirty-two Men Burned to Death.

CORNFIELD, Va., Feb. 3.—An explosion occurred at the Grove shaft of the Midlothian coal mines, about one and a half miles from this place, at about 1 o'clock today. Thirty-two men, ten white and twenty-two colored, were caught in the shaft and there is little hope that any of them will be gotten out alive. The gas-testers went down nearly to the bottom of the pit three times, but were forced to return on account of the smoke and gas, which were suffocating. They report the pit afire, but they will make another effort in the morning to search for the unfortunates. The news of the disaster spread very rapidly, and in a short time a crowd had gathered at the shaft, and the scene was most distressing, as nearly every one had some relative or friend among the embodied miners. The cause of the disaster is not positively known. By some it is attributed to the gas, while others say the boiler in the pit exploded.

The shaft in which the explosion occurred is nearly 600 feet deep, running about three-quarters of a mile in a lateral direction. The Midlothian coal mines belong to the estate of the late H. H. Barrows, of New York, and cost about twelve years ago between $400,000 and $500,000. A similar disaster occurred in the same shaft in 1876, by which nine persons lost their lives.

More Funds For the Land League.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—After an extended tour through the country, Mr. J. M. Healy, M. P., has arrived in this city on his way East. He speaks in Philadelphia and New York next week and then sails for England to take his seat in the House of Commons. Concerning the profits of his tour, Mr. Healy says they amount to some $20,000. Mr. O'Conner, having visited larger towns, will contribute about $10,000 to the fund, while Father Sheehy will furnish perhaps $20,000 more. All the funds received, Mr. Healy says, will be applied as have been those already used, in supporting families who have suffered from eviction, in assisting persons now in jail, and those who have suffered under the law for alleged offences.

A man named Gubbens, employed in a billiard room in Toronto, has succeeded to a share in a $15,000,000 estate through the death of an uncle in Ireland.

DR. FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTERS.

The above wonderful medicine is, as its name indicates, strictly a Bitters or Blood Cleanser, made from roots, combined with herbs and plants, such as are found in Nature's garden. First used Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters upon for weakness of the lungs, catarrh and scrofula in the system, which broke out in pimples and blotches, and after doctoring with physicians and trying advertised medicines (including Sarsaparilla) without finding relief my discovery effected a complete cure. Frazier's Root Bitters are not a drum shop whiskey beverage, but are strictly medical in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity. For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as ever I did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest of blessings. MRS. M. MARTIN, Cleveland, O.

GUITEAU'S FORLORN HOPE.

The Motion for a New Trial in Judge Cox's Court.—Guiteau Denounces the Jury.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—In making his motion in court today in Guiteau's behalf Mr. Scoville said:—I have contemplated that some additional time should be given for this motion. I also have assurances from a prominent member of this bar that he will assist me next week."

Mr. Scoville declined to give the name at present, except in confidence to the court. Mr. Scoville then desired to make a new motion relative to the additional grounds that he had discovered for asking a new trial. Those grounds he stated were unauthorized conversations with the jury by outside parties; and second, subsequent admissions of an expert that he thought Guiteau insane, but did not dare to say so for fear that it would injure him in his business and in the public estimation.

Mr. Scoville read an affidavit, sworn and subscribed to by himself setting forth in detail the grounds stated, and added:—"I have not yet prepared the formal motion based upon this affidavit, but presume it will be sufficient if I do so at any time during the day."

Colonel Corkhill:—"May it please your honor, the time for filing such motion and affidavits has expired."

Judge Cox:—"Well, we will postpone the consideration of this matter until the motion now before the court is disposed of."

Mr. Scoville then proceeded to read the affidavits and other papers filed by him with his motion for a new trial.

Col. Corkhill read the affidavits of each member of the jury, in which they most positively denied ever having seen or read a copy of the Critic, or any other paper during the time that they served as jurors upon the trial of Guiteau.

Following these was read the affidavit of Norman Wiard, to the effect that he had known Snyder for fifteen years and to his knowledge he said that Snyder is a thief and a forger and blackmailer, and that he (Wiard) would not believe him under oath. Colonel Corkhill also read the affidavits of John L. Sargent, formerly a detective in Washington, and Detective McElfresh, who arrested Snyder several years since on the charge of grand larceny. Also an affidavit of Geo. C. Curtiss, the bailiff in charge of the room from which Snyder alleges to have taken the copy of the Critic with the jurors' names upon it. Affiant sworn that he did not purchase a Critic during the trial or have one in his room, that the only persons who attracted the suspicion of the bailiffs or jury were E. T. Snyder, Mr. Scoville and J. H. Hayden; they passed the rooms on several occasions, without having any ostensible business, and were objects of suspicion both to bailiffs and jurymen. Affiant further swears that at the hour when Snyder swore that he found the Critic in the bailiffs' room he (Curtiss) was there, and the jurors were also in their rooms, and that it was impossible for Snyder to have taken a Critic from his room unless he had first placed it there.

Mr. Davidge discussed the affidavit, and wanted to know what Snyder was doing in the jurys' room.

Guiteau, who had thus far abstained from taking any part in the discussion, called out:—"He said the door was open and he saw the paper."

Mr. Davidge—"Yes, I know, Mr. Prisoner; so are a great many doors open. But what would you think of me if I went mousing around private rooms?"

Guiteau—"If you had been in Snyder's place, you would have done the same as he did."

Mr. Davidge continued to discuss the affidavit of Snyder. He said it was a very easy thing for any one to have put into the bailiff's room the newspaper in question, with the express intention of having it found there. He (Davidge) considered this evidence of the newspaper of very little account. This elicited from Guiteau the comment, "Very strong presumptive evidence, Judge, especially with a grog jury—a jury that smokes, and drinks, and plays cards."

.....The Baltimore City Council has accepted Mr. Enoch Pratt's gift of more than a million dollars for a free library, according to the terms proposed by him.

.....Clara Morris will continue to play Mercy Merrick at the special matinees in the Union Square Theatre for several weeks longer. "Article 47" will probably be her next piece.

.....Joaquin Miller is devoting his attention to the prevention of forest fires. His idea is to have the forests all burned over every autumn before a great mass of inflammable stuff accumulates.

.....Theodore Tilton and his wife have signed the deed of sale of their old home in Brooklyn. The negotiations were conducted by an attorney and the estranged husband and wife did not meet.

.....The Yale students ridiculed Oscar Wilde when he lectured in New Haven Wednesday night, less elaborately but more boisterously than did the Harvard boys in Boston the night before.

.....A monument to William Morgan, supposed to have been murdered by the Masons, is to be erected at Batavia, N. Y., and over two thousand persons have already contributed to its cost.

.....The new United States Judge, Nathan Webb, of Portland, Me., in declining a public dinner tendered by one hundred lawyers, said:—"My tastes and my judgment are averse to its acceptance, and I must respectfully decline it."

.....Mrs. Fanny Hodgson Burnett's play, "Esmeralda," was performed for the one hundredth time in the Madison Square Theatre on Friday night, and the event was celebrated by the distribution of souvenirs consisting of a hand-painted panel bearing an ideal head of the heroine.

.....A white polar bear skin, 8x4, which has been made into a lap robe, will be forwarded today to Secretary Hunt. It is sent by the officers of the Alliance. The bear was shot on August 9, 1881, on Dane's Island, Spitzbergen, by a party of officers composed of Lieut. Elliot, Lieut. West, Master Schenck, Midshipman Case, Ensign Werlick and Cadet Midshipman Wilkinson.

.....Ex-Treasurer Spinner, who is now eighty years of age, perfected his famous autograph when he was a young man working at harness-making in Herkimer, N. Y. He practised writing it hour after hour, and his old partner said a year or two ago that he had seen as many as two hundred sheets of foolscap covered with the attempts.

.....Master Schoenze, who left St. Louis Thursday night to join in the Jeannette search, will not reach New York in time to sail on the Germanic, but will embark on the steamship Oder, which will leave Saturday afternoon. He will join Lieutenant Harber in London, and they will proceed to Irkutsk together by the most direct route.

WONDERFUL INVENTIONS

Of the Nineteenth Century: The Magnetic Telegraph, the Telephone, and the Wonderful

"WILSONIA"

MAGNETIC

—AND—

Ladies' Corset.

The telegraph and telephone are wonderful inventions! But are no comparison to the health-giving and life-preserving "WILSONIA." The garments, when worn in sufficient quantities to cover the spine and nerve centres, according to directions, will cure all diseases that are curable. They will cure the worst cases of Catarrh ever known, and there is probably not a case of Paralysis but can be cured, if worn according to directions. All sensible men know that medicine will not cure paralysis, but the MAGNETIC CLOTHING will do it. It will also cure Rheumatism, Asthma, Bronchitis, Inflammation and Bleeding of the Lungs, Heart Disease, Albuminous Urine, Locomotor Ataxia, Gout, Varicose Veins, Congestion of the Kidneys, Spinal diseases, and all kinds of Female Weakness. Also a preventive as well as a cure for Pneumonia, and all contagious diseases, such as Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Erysipelas, etc. There are now 17,000 people wearing these garments in New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Providence, and there are men of great minds, such as Peter Cooper, Thurlow Weed, Com. Garrison, Gen. Graham, and thousands of others.

There have been scores of these garments sold in this city in the last few weeks, and they are doing wonderful cures. Names and testimonials can be seen at this office.

the agent for the city, was stricken down with paralysis, laid for weeks in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, and the physicians pronounced his case entirely hopeless. Mr. Lillibridge put on the garments the 25th of June, 1881, and is today almost as well as he ever was. Send or call for a circular at the Principal Office for New England.

GOULD & SON.

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 137 Thames street, by Davis & Pitman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, and a complete and comprehensive summary of news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 36 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from the city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the whole year is paid strictly in advance. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer.

Notices of births, marriages and funerals 50 cents each.

Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business, are guaranteed but five insertions in a week and are allowed twenty-five changes a year.

The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

The News has four steam presses and is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1882.

Washington's birthday comes this year the first day of Lent.

There have been 146 business failures throughout the country during the past seven days.

The known embezzlements of Auditor Palmer, of Newark, amounts to $228,400, and more are being discovered all the time.

A number of boys were arrested in New York yesterday for throwing snow-balls. We suppose the young criminals will be sent to the penitentiary.

The governor and council of Massachusets have very properly refused to pardon Charles P. Stickney, of Fall River, who was sentenced for embezzlement.

As Oscar Wilde had no college students to draw for him in Hartford, his audience was very small. It would pay his manager to take the Harvard boys along. People do not care much for Oscar but they do take an interest in the students.

Ex-Secretary Blaine has written a letter to President Arthur urging that the project of inviting the independent republics of America to a peace congress be not abandoned, as it is understood has been the purpose of the President, by advice of Secretary Frelinghuysen, and answering the objections urged against the project by the present secretary.

The appointment of Mr. Armstrong of Pennsylvania to be commissioner of railroads is classed as a very good one by the most critical. It is not a political appointment. The office is a very difficult and responsible one, requiring the judicial faculty in a high degree, and it was hard to get a suitable man to accept it.

It is not a bad joke, the proposition to recognize the stage by sending Hon. Bardwell Slote, alias William J. Florence, on a foreign mission. Mr. Florence has shown so keen an appreciation of the devices of the politicians, and so fine an adaptability to their manners, that it is impossible to doubt his fitness for a diplomatic position.

The Senate yesterday passed the Sherman funding bill by a vote of 38 to 18, after amending it in several particulars. A bill was reported providing life pensions of $5000 per year each to the widows of ex-Presidents Garfield, Tyler and Polk. The bill authorizing the national board of health to distribute pure vaccine virus among the people was passed. The bill changing the northern boundary of Nebraska was also passed. Several hours were consumed in discussing, without action, a proposed new order of business. The entire session of the House was occupied in the consideration of private bills.

Everything is done in Chicago on a large scale. They have an aldermanic scandal there now which is of fine proportions. Lately a local judge named Barnum charged the grand jury strongly against the gambling houses, and there was a panic among these people for a time, but presently it was reported in one of the papers that the City Council had been "fixed," and that nothing could be done with the gambling-houses. The reporter who wrote this statement was summoned before the grand jury, and stated that he overheard one of the gamblers saying to certain others of his fraternity:—"The thing will be all right; after Barnum made his charge five houses put up $500 each, and the $2,500 were placed in the hands of Alderman Jonas; Woodman is foreman of the jury, and he saw Jonas once at his place and again in McCoy's Hotel, last night; after Jonas and Woodman met the last time it was reported to our people that things had been fixed, and that there would not be any more trouble." The reporter was not questioned, although he was prepared to give names and other information.

A Washington despatch infers that Dakota will be admitted because Messrs. Davis and Mahone are willing to vote for it. This implies that every Republican Senator is willing, for the sake of strengthening his party now, to run the risk of bringing a new Nevada into the Union.—[Boston Herald.

There is no such risk. Dakota is as certain to have as great a population as Massachusetts before many years as the grass is to grow where the soil is rich, the showers copious and the climate kindly. Nevada has hardly an acre of agricultural land and has declined in population because her few mines have declined. Her admission was a "war measure" and was a bad one. Dakota will be a new Iowa, not a new Nevada. The agricultural resources of Dakota are as great as those of Iowa, and her situation as favorable. The population of Iowa in 1850, four years after her admission to the Union, was only 192,214—but little greater, if any, than that of Dakota today—and that of Massachusetts in the same year was 994,514. In 1880 the population of Iowa was 1,624,615; that of Massachusetts 1,783,085; and during the present decade Iowa will far outstrip the Mother Colony. The story of Dakota is almost sure to be as brilliant as that of Iowa.

GUITEAU SENTENCED.

The news which comes from Washington today of the denial of Mr. Scoville's demand for a new trial, and the sentence of Guiteau to be hanged on the 30th of June, may be classed as very good news. No public rejoicings are in order, however, until it is definitely known that the further dilatory proceedings which Mr. Scoville has determined to make are without avail. Even then every sign which savors of vindictiveness or a spirit of revenge should be frowned upon. We should rejoice, not because the assassin of the President is to be punished for his crime, but because the law has been vindicated in so conspicuous an instance and in the face of so many carefully contrived obstacles to its enforcement.

ONE HUNDRED CITIES.

The latest census bulletin from Washington contains some interesting figures about the one hundred largest cities of the United States. In the bulletin they are classed in groups of five each, and their total population in 1870 and 1880, and their male, female, native, foreign, white, colored, Chinese and Indian population given.

What cities comprise the first group of five and in what order they stand, is known, of course, to that particularly well-informed person known as "every schoolboy," but some others may have forgotten the order. They are New York (1,206,299), Philadelphia (847,170), Brooklyn (566,663), Chicago (503,185) and Boston (362,839). The second quintette is composed of St. Louis, Baltimore, Cincinnati, San Francisco and New Orleans. Providence, with its 104,857 people is the twentieth city in size in the country, Milwaukee, Wis., ranking just above it and Albany, N. Y., just below it. Newport gets into the list, but unfortunately, it is Newport, Ky., and not Newport, R. I., for the list of 100 cities stops with Springfield, Ill., which has 19,743 people and we have but 15,693. Our Kentucky namesake is a city that is very seldom heard of; it is merely a residence suburb of Cincinnati.

New York city has a foreign-born population of 478,670, and Chicago comes next in the list of foreign cities with a foreign-born population of 204,859. Neither of these cities, however, has so large a proportion of foreign-born residents as our neighbor, Fall River, where the figures stand:—native, 25,386; foreign, 23,575. In Holyoke, Mass., however, the foreigners approach most nearly of all the cities in numbers to the natives, the proportion being 11,000 to 10,915.

In three of the cities the colored population constitutes an absolute majority—namely, in Charleston, S. C., Petersburg, Va., and Savannah, Ga. In the first, 55 out of every 100 inhabitants are colored; in the second, 51 out of every 100, and in the third, 51 out of every 100. In Washington they number nearly one-third of the population, or 32⅓ per cent. and in New Orleans over one-fourth, or 26 per cent. New Orleans also has the largest total colored population in any city of the Union—57,000—Baltimore coming next with 53,000, or 16 per cent. of its population. Of all the large cities Milwaukee has the smallest percentage of negroes, there being but 300 in a total of 115,000, or 26 in every 10,000.

San Francisco has a Chinese population of 21,745, Sacramento 1,781, Oakland 1,974 and New York, 731. In each of eleven of these cities one solitary Chinaman abides and devotes himself heroically to the cause of public cleanliness.

New York has the largest Indian population—46, San Francisco comes next with 45, and Providence next with 41. Most of the cities have two or three residents of Indian blood, but the red man's antipathy to the towns appears to be on the whole as strong as ever.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

Rev. E. W. Hunt, of the Second Baptist Church, Fall River, will not go to Chicago.

There are in Congress eight Irishmen, four Scotchmen, five Englishmen and three Germans.

Father Gavazzi is in Rome, using the $125,000 recently collected in the United States by him to build up the Free church of Italy. He is 73 years old.

During last year 547 Sunday-schools were established in the Northwest by agents of the American Sunday-school Union, and 1,044 old schools were assisted.

The Revised New Testament has been recommended to the careful attention of ministers and church members by the Presbyterian General Assembly of Australia.

Moody and Sankey are said to be quite as successful in Great Britain now as they were six years ago, although less is written about their work to American newspapers.

Rev. Charles Chiniquy, the converted French priest, is laboring with Pastor Seguin in the Bleecher-street Baptist Mission, the French population of the Eighth and Fifteenth Wards being extensive.

During the Know-Nothing riots in Philadelphia in 1844, Rev. James A. Miller, a Roman Catholic priest who has just died in that city, aged 79 years, distinguished himself by taking the sacrament out of St. Philip's Church while it was on fire and surrounded by a mob.

A Unitarian preacher in Bangor, named Stewart, devoted last Sunday to showing his amused audience that Guiteau was a little better than the ordinary man, or, as he put it:—"If Guiteau is insane, according to orthodoxy, he ought not to be punished; if he is sane, he has merely carried out the teachings of the church."

Christopher R. Eliot, son of the Rev. Dr. Eliot, the distinguished Unitarian divine of St. Louis, was on Thursday ordained pastor of the First Parish church, in Dorchester district, Boston, the oldest church within the city limits. Rev. Prof. C. C. Everett, of the Harvard Divinity school, preached the ordination sermon.

The Rev. Washington Gladden says in the Century Magazine:—"There is need that the Protestant Churches should arouse themselves to a more consistent and vigorous action upon the matter of divorce. The clear provisions of the Christian law respecting the causes of divorce ought to be emphasized in the teaching and enforced in the discipline of the churches. Whatever sanctions religion can bring should be brought to the defence of the family; and ministers of the Gospel may well be cautious about transgressing the express commands of their Master in the marriage of persons already divorced for other causes than those named in the New Testament. Such explicit testimony and energetic action may avert the evils now assailing the peace and security of our homes, and should convince our Roman Catholic brethren that Protestantism is not the foe of the Christian family."

In the treatment of crime we usually begin too late. Crime can seldom be remedied; it must be prevented. If you would stop the flow of the stream, you must dry the spring. Deal faithfully with the child and you will have no occasion to deal severely with the man. Build the schoolhouse, the church, the family alter, and you will have less occasion to rear the court house, or to build the prison. A true mother is worth a dozen judges and sheriffs; she extinguishes the fire in the spark, dries the stream of evil in its fountain. A live Sabbath school is the most effectual kind of police force. These deal with sin in the germ.—[N. E. Methodist.

—The monthly meeting of the City Council will be held on Tuesday evening.

—James Halpin has been obliged to pay a fine of $5 and cost for assaulting Mrs Delany.

—Lieut. Graydon, U. S. N., attached to the New Hampshire, has been granted a leave of absence.

—A lad named James Gladding was injured while sledding on Bowery street Thursday evening.

—The condition of Dr. David King is improving. He sat up for a time yesterday and will do so again today.

—Mr. Nathaniel Thayer, Jr., of Boston, has been elected one of the corporation of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

—The committee on the fire department have voted to purchase 1000 feet of linen hose at a cost not to exceed 83 cents per foot.

—Messrs. Frank B. Porter & Co. have rented for Mr. S. W. Pomeroy his cottage on Bellevue avenue known as "Maycroft" to Mr. William F. Duff of Boston for the season of 1882.

—A lad named Martin has been stealing barrels and then selling them to their owner, Mr. Joseph S. Cottrell, who detected the imposition which had been practiced upon him yesterday afternoon.

—It is now thought that the brig S. P. Brown owned by Mr. G. C. Munro of this city is lost. She left New York about two weeks ago with a cargo of coal for Newburyport, Mass. Her crew did not belong here.

—The Newport Orchestra will furnish music for the Sons of Temperance fair Monday evening. Donations of cake left in the hall after one o'clock will be thankfully received. Turkey supper will be ready at five o'clock.

—The friends of Mr. George C. Carr will be glad to learn that both his attending physician, Dr. Henry Turner, and Dr. Argyle Watson, who was summoned from New York in consultation, have strong hopes of his recovery.

—Miss Emma S. Allen, special lecturer for the National Prohibition Alliance, will speak at the Thames-street Methodist Episcopal Church Monday evening, Feb. 6. Miss Allen has a good theme and is considered to be a good speaker.

—Lieut. Giles B. Harber who is ordered to assist in the search for Capt. De Long, was under instruction at the Torpedo Station two years ago. He is highly spoken of by naval officers here for the perilous duty which has been assigned him.

—Some time ago Messrs. G. W. Simmons & Sons, of Oak Hall, offered prizes for designs suitable for advertising their business. They have just announced that Ludwig Frank, brother of Prof. Frank, of this city, has taken the first prize, which is $20.

—Two tramps were landed here from the New York boat on its way to New York Thursday night. They were provided with lodgings and food at the Police Station and last night they were sent out of town by the Fall River line by order of the Mayor.

—Mr. Simon Moffitt, formerly of this city, died in Minneapolis yesterday, aged 82 years. He had been in his usual robust health until within a few days of his decease. He was the father of Godfrey Moffitt, foreman at Swinburne, Peckham & Co.'s planing mill and has other friends and relatives in the city.

—Lieut. Commander A. G. Caldwell, one of the instructors at the Torpedo Station, who is personally acquainted with Lieut. Danenhauer of the ill-fated Jeannette, states that he always had trouble with his eyes and he was not therefore surprised to learn that his eyes were in the deplorable condition so modestly stated by the gallant officer.

There will be a memorial service at the Unitarian Church tomorrow morning; Rev. Mr. Brooks will read a poem, and the pastor will preach a sermon on "The Character, Influence and Worth of Dr. Bellows." In the evening the topic in the winter course of lectures, entitled "Labor and its Oppressive Monopolies," will be deferred, and in its place the pastor will give a lecture on "William Cullen Bryant as a Man and a Poet."

An invention has been patented in Munich which promises to greatly improve pianofortes. A series of tuning forks are freely suspended over the three highest octaves of the piano, each fork having the exact pitch over which it is suspended. The vibrations of the string are communicated to the fork, which in turn reacts on the string, whereby a full and sustained tone is secured, in strong contrast to the short and dry tones of the present pianos. The improved quality of the highest notes also improves the volume of the lower ones, since several of these high notes are always heard as overtones whenever one of the lower notes is struck. In this manner the difficult problem of equalizing the strength and fulness of the different octaves will probably be solved at last.

CAPT. SELFRIDGE'S PROPOSED IRON-CLADS.

Capt. T. O. Selfridge, U. S. N., commandant at the Torpedo Station in this city, appeared yesterday before the committee on naval affairs of the House of Representatives at Washington and exhibited and explained the drawings of an armored ship, designed by him for coast and harbor defence. It differs from all existing iron-clads in many particulars. It is on the citadel principle, as distinguished from the turret principle. Its length is to be 250 feet, breadth 100 feet, draught 19 feet and its displacement 8690 tons. Its armament is to be four 70-ton guns of 15 7-10 inches in diameter, with some smaller guns. The cost of such a ship, without armament, Capt. Salfridge estimated at two and a half million dollars, and said six of them would be a perfect protection to the seaports of the country.

JONES-CALDWELL.

A New York despatch says:—The interior of St. Thomas' Church in Fifth avenue, Thursday, was trimmed with beautifully arranged greens, and the seats were occupied by handsomely dressed women and well-known men, whose sleighs and broughams filled the streets for blocks around. Mr. Gilbert E. Jones son of Mr. George Jones, proprietor of the New York Times, was married to Miss Louise Caldwell, daughter of Stephen D. Cadwell. Rev. Dr. Morgan officiated, his assistant being Rev. Dr. Heber Newton. At 4 o'clock the bride and groom stood before the clergymen, with the bridesmaids in a semicircle at their side. The bride wore a dress with white satin front in field flower design, with drapery on upturned folds and long veil extending down on the train. The bridesmaids wore uniform costumes of white corded silk with train, lace sleeves, long Spanish gloves wrinkled to the elbows, and veils falling back on the train.

THE PETITION RELATING TO THE SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCY.

We give below the petition to the General Assembly, now circulating in this city, in the matter of the appointment of superintendents of schools, with the signatures to date:—

To the Honorable the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations:—

The undersigned citizens of the city of Newport in said state respectfully pray your honorable body to enact a law which shall make all superintendents of public schools in said state elective by the school committee in their respective cities and towns, instead of the manner now provided in the Public Statutes:—

Chicago's first water-works tunnel, running under the lake for two miles, was pumped dry recently, and Mayor Harrison, the city engineer, and a squad of reporters went through it, ostensibly to examine the masonry. At the distance of 3,209 feet from the shore a brass plate was nailed to the bricks bearing this inscription: "Water let in tunnel March 21, A. D. 1867. In continuous use fifteen years. Pumped out January 18, 1882. Found to be in excellent condition. This record placed by Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of the city of Chicago, January 24, A. D. 1882."

Fifty thousand tons of ice have been harvested at Troy, N. Y.

The Portland Packing Company will erect a factory for canning sweet corn at Winthrop, Me., whose farmers agree to supply it.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

PROVIDENCE, FEBRUARY 3.

Senate.

His Excellency, the Governor, and His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, both being absent, the Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock by the Secretary of State. Mr. Arnold was then chosen president pro tem. and was escorted to the chair by Mr. Seabury.

Mr. Bartlett, of Burrillville, presented a petition signed by Lawrence Pendergast and 76 others for the remission of the sum of $1000 due the state from Thomas McGuire, of Burrillville, and for which he is now confined in Newport County Jail, on a judgment on writ of scire facias; also for remission of the recognizance due the state from McGuire. This is a case of defaulted recognizance. McGuire lies in jail suffering from injuries which prevent him from working. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Handy introduced a resolution, instructing the Committee on Judiciary to enquire and report what legislation is needed, if any, for the better safety of elevators, with authority to report by bill or otherwise.

The eleventh annual report of the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries was taken up, read and ordered communicated to the House.

Adjourned to Monday at 11 o'clock.

House.

Mr. Dyer, of Providence, introduced a resolution to provide for compensation to the commissioners appointed to revise and digest the public laws of the state. Referred to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. Adams, of Warwick, reported back from the same committee an act to incorporate the Supreme Assembly, Royal Society of Good Fellows. Read and passed.

Upon recommendation of the Committee on Judiciary, the following matters were indefinitely posponed: Bill for an act in amendment of Chapter 125 of the Assembly Statutes "Of Expressmen;" bill for an act in amendment of Chapters 218 and 220 of the General Statutes; bill for an act in addition to Chapter 76 of the General Statutes, "Of Contagious Disease Among Cattle;" bill for an act in relation to the adjournment of the Supreme Court and Court of Common Pleas; bill for an act to prevent the imitation and adulteration of cider vinegar.

Mr. Anthony, of Middletown, presented the report of the Commissioners appointed to place steam heating apparatus in the Newport County Jail. The Commissioners report that the work was done in a satisfactory manner at a cost of $839 64—a sum less than the amount appropriated. Read and ordered communicated to the Senate.

Mr. Sheffield, of Newport, presented the petition of Mary E. Peckham pro se ipso, et al. for an allowance from the settlement money of the Narragansett tribe of Indians, of which she claims to be a member. Referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Senate act changing the name of the "Association for the Aid of the Aged," of Newport, to "Townsend Aid for the Aged" was concurred in without reference.

Senate substitute for the bill for an act in amendment of Chapter 244 of the Public Statutes "Of Offences against Chastity, Morality and Decency," was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Sheffield gave notice that the Judiciary Committee on Tuesday next, on the rising of the House will consider various bills with reference to railroad corporations.

Mr. Sheffield then reported from the Judiciary Committee a bill for an act in amendment of Chapter 22 of the General Statutes, "Of Certain Civil Officers Elected by the General Assembly." It comes as a substitute for an old bill and provides that hereafter the Governor from time to time shall appoint so many Notaries Public as he may deem necessary, said appointees to hold their offices for a term of five years from the date of their appointment; and that every person accepting appointment shall pay to the state $10 before commencing to act under said appointment. Laid upon the table temporarily.

The speaker appointed as members of the joint special committee on Constitutional Amendment Messrs. Sheffield, of Newport, Taft, of Providence, Pirce, of Johnston, Freeman, of Lincoln and Wilkinson, of North Smithfield.

The House then adjourned to Monday next.

The following new subscribers have been connected with the Telephone Exchange within the past few weeks viz.:

SOCIETY MATTERS.

The swell event of the season—the Charity Ball—took place at the Academy of Music, New York, Wednesday night, and was, as it has been for years, a great success. Despite the merciless storm without, the creme de la creme were present en masse, and the interior of the building at midnight presented a scene which for beauty and picturesqueness is seldom witnessed here; although beautiful as it was, it could have been rendered even more beautiful and attractive if sufficient attention were given to the decoration of the house. A word in this direction might be advanced, but as the people who manage the ball make no pretentions to dressing the house, it would be profitless to make suggestions or comment of any kind. At eleven o'clock Weber's overture of "Oberon" was begun by the band, and was shortly followed by Gounod's "La Reine de Saba." The grand march was then formed, and headed by Mr. Arthur Leary, escorting Mrs. S. L. M. Barlow, Mayor and Mrs. Grace, Alexander Taylor and Mrs. R. H. L. Towsend, Mr. S. L. M. Barlow and Mrs. Lester Wallack made a circuit of the dancing floor, gathering recruits at each revolution until the platform was filled. Then began the dancing. The first set in the opening quadrille was formed as follows:—Mr. Arthur Leary and Mrs. Grace facing Mayor Grace and Mrs. Barlow, and Mr. Alexander Taylor and Mrs. R. H. L. Townsend and Mr. Lispenard Stewart and Mrs. L. S. Bryce.

General H. L. Burnett was married Wednesday afternoon at the Church of the Ascension in New York to Miss Agnes Tailer, daughter of Mr. Edward A. Tailer. A reception followed at the residence of the bride's father in Washington square. Among the many guests were Mrs. Edward Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Gurnee, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. William Oothout, and Mrs. Jacob Lorillard.

Minister Morton has already become very popular in Paris. His graceful hospitality, genial manners and careful attention to all interests were sure to win the regard of all classes. The members of the French Cabinet gave a very striking proof of courtesy and consideration to him, for the Paris Journal states that in order to accept his recent invitation to dinner, the French Council, which on that day is usually held in the evening, was convened in the morning.

John D. Prince has bought from Leonard Jerome and his wife about forty-five acres on the Bronx River, in that portion of the annexed New York district formerly known as West Farms, for $6,951.72.

The French Minister and Mme. Outrey gave a dinner party Wednesday night to some of their intimate Washington friends. There were present Secretary and Mrs. Frelinghuysen, Hon. L. S. West and daughter, the Italian Minister and wife, Viscount and Miss Nagueiras, Count Brunetti and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Adams, of the British legation, and others.

The party given in Washington Wednesday night by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bancroft and Secretary Frelinghuysen and wife was the most brilliant entertainment of the season. The invitations were limited in number, which prevented a crowd.

A REMARKABLE JOURNALISTIC SUCCESS.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch publishes, on the occasion of its third anniversary, the story of its success, which is certainly a remarkable one, even in this age of journalistic wonders. Mr. Joseph Pulitzer, the proprietor of the paper, bought three years ago, at sheriff's sale, under foreclosure of a mortgage, the wrecked Dispatch (afterwards consolidated, with the Post,) for the sum of $2,500. Mr. Pulitzer in an affidavit, states that the circulation, which was 3,160 three years ago, has now bounded to 20,320, and so prosperous has the paper become under his management that a superb $25,000 press and a new building have been purchased out of the profits in this short space of time, and a dividend of ten per cent. on the capital stock of $250,000 has been declared, besides.

There is now at Cincinnati a steamboat of large size, built for the purpose of developing a new enterprise, which, if successful, will add to the long list of American produce. This boat is supplied with machinery for the purpose of grinding and compressing tanbark. She will be run up the Tennessee River, where the bark is obtainable. There the bark will be taken on board, ground, compressed, and packed in kegs or half-barrels, and in that shape shipped to Europe. Bark is now brought to market in bulk and handled at great expense, and cannot be shipped to Europe at all.

The Old Colony Railroad has received a new freight engine from the Taunton Locomotive Works, called the Mesfield. She has a steel boiler and fire-box, five-foot driving wheels, weighs forty-one tons and is to be used on the Northern division. Another engine of the same capacity is expected out from the same shop in a few days.

HARD ON THE MAYORS. As to the mayors of Newport, it is to be presumed that they have been about an average lot, but that in their official capacity they have ever done anything which has added to the prosperity or thrift of Newport must be wholly in the mind of the writer, and will not be found recorded anywhere in Newport's history. CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.

Senate.

Mr. Teller, from the committee on pensions, reported an original bill as a substitute for the one on the subject, granting to Lucretia A. Garfield, Sarah Childress Polk and Julia Gardner Tyler (widows of ex-Presidents) life pensions of $5000 per year from Sept. 19, 1881, that of Mrs. Tyler to be in lieu of the pension heretofore granted her. Placed on the calendar.

Mr. Hoar reported from the committee on privileges and elections the Senate bill fixing a day for the meeting of electors of President and Vice President; providing for and regulating the counting of the votes for President and Vice Presidents and the decision of questions arising thereon. He said the bill was identical with the one reported by Mr. Edmunds from the judiciary committee and passed by the Senate in 1878. The report now made was a unanimous one, except as to a single member of the committee, who was not present when the bill was considered.

The bill for the distribution of the National Board of Health of pure vaccine virus to the people was taken up by unanimous consent and passed.

The Sherman three per cent. funding bill was taken up and passed by a vote of 38 to 18, Messrs. Aldrich and Anthony voting aye. Among those who voted no was Mr. Windom.

The following is the full text of the bill as passed by the Senate:—

Be it enacted, etc.. That the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to receive at the Treasury, and at the office of any Assistant Treasurer of the United States, and at any postal money order office, lawful money of the United States to the amount of $50 or any multiple of that sum, or any bond of the United States bearing 3½ per centum interest, which are hereby declared valid, and to issue in exchange therefore an equal amount of registered or coupon bonds of the United States of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000 of such form, as he may prescribe, bearing interest at the rate of three per centum per annum, payable either quarterly or semi-annually at the Treasury of the United States. Such bonds shall be exempt from all taxation by and under state authority, and be payable at the pleasure of the United States, provided that the bonds herein authorized shall not be called in and paid so long as any bonds of the United States, heretofore issued, bearing a higher rate of interest than three per centum, and which shall be outstanding and uncalled. The last of said bonds originally issued and their substitutes under this act shall be first called in, and this order of payment shall be followed until all shall have been paid. The money deposited under this act shall be promptly applied solely to the redemption of bonds of the United States bearing three and a half per centum interest, and the aggregate amount of deposits made and bonds issued under this act shall not exceed the sum of two hundred million dollars. The amount of lawful money so received on deposit as aforesaid, shall not exceed at any time the sum of twenty-five million dollars. Before any deposits are received at any postal money order office under this act, the postmaster at such office shall file with the Secretary of the Treasury his bond with satisfactory surety, conditioned that he will promptly transmit to the Treasurer of the United States the money received by him, in conformity with the regulations to be prescribed by such Secretary, and the deposit with any postmaster shall not at any time exceed the amount of his bond.

SEC. 2. Any national banking association now organized or hereafter organized desiring to withdraw its circulating notes, upon a deposit of lawful money with the Treasurer of the United States as provided in section 4 of the act of June 20th, 1874, entitled "An act fixing the amount of United States notes, providing for a redistribution of national bank currency and for other purposes," shall be required to give thirty days' notice to the Comptroller of the Currency of its intention to deposit lawful money and withdraw its circulating notes, provided that not more than five millions of dollars of lawful money shall be deposited during any calendar month for this purpose; and provided further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to bonds called for redemption by the Secretary of the Treasury.

SEC. 3. That nothing in this act shall be so construed as to authorize an increase of the public debt.

House.

The bill releasing the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company from the tax assessed on the wages certificates heretofore issued by the company, which was called by Mr. Springer a "bill for the relief of William H. Vanderbilt, a poor but honest citizen of New York," was laid aside to be reported upon unfavorably—109 to 45

The committee then rose and the bill was tabled.

FUNERAL OF DR. BELLOWS.

The remains of the late Dr. Bellows arrived in Walpole, N. H., Thursday night from New York, accompanied by delegates from his parish in that city. Funeral services were held in the Unitarian Church, Walpole, Friday morning at 11 o'clock, and were very largely attended. They were conducted by Rev. William Browne, pastor. The opening prayer was made by F. N. Knapp, of Plymouth, Mass., cousin of the deceased. Appropriate remarks were made by Rev. Mr. Browne. The remains were interred in the family lot in the cemetery north of the village. The pall bearers were all prominent residents of Walpole. A memorial service is to be held in the same church next Sabbath. The widow of the deceased did not accompany the remains from New York owing to sickness in the family.

Dr. John Hall has written a letter to the Belfast Witness, which he established, giving advice to persons intending to leave Ireland for a home in the United States. Among other things, he remarks: —"It is needless to say that to send out here persons who do no good at home, or who have fallen into bad habits, and to expect that a ten days' sail will change their nature, is folly."

CONFLAGRATIONS.

Scenes of Terror at the Burning of a Hotel in Nashville Last Night.

Destruction of a Large Public School Building in Washington.

Hotel Burned.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 4.—Kellogg's Hotel in this city was burned last night at midnight. Thirty-five people in it barely escaped in their night clothes, many jumping from the second-story windows.

It is thought that no one was burned to death. Several persons were slightly injured.

Burning of a School Building.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 4.—The Jefferson public school on Virginia avenue was burned this morning. It was one of the finest schoolhouses in the city and accommodated 1600 pupils. It was valued at $135,000.

THE AMERICAN CUP.

The new Trophy of the New York Yacht Club and how It is to be Given.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—An "American cup" has just been given to the New York Yacht club, which is to be the property of the club and not of any yacht winning it. The new deed prescribes that the cup may be sailed for by yachts belonging to regularly organized yacht clubs, of between 30 and 300 tons. No yacht previously defeated is to contest for the cup.

Washington Notes.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Speaker Keifer has issued positive orders to stop the sale of liquors in the House restaurant either openly or as "cold tea."

Another heavy storm is prevailing.

WALL STREET.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Stocks opened irregular and in the main higher. On the early dealings the market fell off ¼ to 1. At 11 there was a recovery of ⅛ to ½. After 11 the market was dull but the general list advanced ⅛ to ⅜.

MME. ADAM AND HER HOME.

There is probably no harder working woman living. From morning till long past midnight her day is a series of detailed duties, as vigorously gone through as the stages of a monk's labor of penance and mortification. In the morning she attends to the review, and by the aid of three or four secretaries reads and answers letters, and makes notes for her fortnightly political summary. The afternoon is given to private letters and interviews, driving, and reading manuscript, and interviews with contributors. At night there is the new play or the ministerial soiree, and at the stroke of 12 she hurries home to write till 3. Some of her devices for the saving of time are ingenious. As a Parisienne and a leader of fashion, she has to devote considerable attention to her toilette; and, to do this with the minimum of waste in minutes she has all her dresses fitted to a dummy made on the exact model of her shape. The dresses are tried on the dummy while the original of the figure is breakfasting, and the needful criticisms are made during the progress of the meal.

Mme. Adam's residence in Paris is in the same house as the office of her paper. The bureaux of the review are on the ground floor, in a suite of very tastefully furnished rooms; and the apartments are above some flights higher than perhaps M. Sarcey, who is not the leanest of critics, cares to count when he comes to receptions. They are spacious, of course, but their capital defect is that they are still not half large enough for the number of persons that the hostess has to receive. They are furnished elegantly, but still with a sort of simplicity suited to the occupant's character and taste. Her Paris home, in fact, suffers from her hospitality. The thousand superfluities which give so much charm to a dwelling have had to be removed to make way for more visitors. The large ante-chamber is furnished with antique cabinets, jardinières and with exotic plants from Mme. Adam's villa at Antibes. On the wall are hung photographs of George Sand's house at Nahant, and of the country surrounding it, one of which bears the inscription, in George Sand's handwriting, "A ma Juliette." From the ante-chamber you enter a diningroom which will seat 60 guests. The walls are covered with rare porcelain, and the two cabinets hold a collection which would delight Mr. Gladstone. This room leads the way to the large salon. The walls are hung with gray brocade and covered with good old etchings and wood engravings, a Rembrandt or two, some Albert Durers; but nothing new. At one end is a bust of a lady, who is still strikingly handsome, though it wants half the charm of the original, especially the very "jolly" smile. This is the hostess; and the hostess, bear in mind, is not only a mother but a grandmother—no wonder she finds it necessary to continually remind the world of the fact. The bust of the thick-moustached man on the other pedestal is a portrait of her second husband, the Republican Senator. Some bits of the furniture in this room are worth noticing, only because they are a token of gratitude from a country curé, whose poor have been largely fed by Mme. Adam's benefactions. The poor curé had some fire-irons which had garnished his chimney-corner since the time of Louis XVI. and he packed them up and sent them to Mme. Adam; it was his way of giving her his best. Beyond the large drawing-room is another saloon, where the hostess receives her intimes. This is in the Oriental style; the walls are hung with Turkish stuffs, and with trophies of arms, etc. From the grand salon opens the holy of holies—the cabinet de travail of our republican sibyl, a room in quiet gray, bordered with red. The book-case contains Voltaire, Diderot, Montaigne and the old Greek writers, with the original manuscript of the authoress's own works, bound in parchment, and making very bulky tomes. It is her whim to preserve the manuscript of all her volumes. The scattered pages that make up the journal of the seige of Paris are peculiarly interesting. On one side of the table a black-marble column bears the bust of Apollo Belvidere, the dieu de la deesse. There are some good pictures on the walls, all of them gifts of the artists: a Madeleine by Henner, an oriental scene by Guillemet, another work by Jean Paul Laurens, and a little gem of humor—Detaille's answer to an invitation from Mme. Adam to a ball costume. He could not go, and he told the reason why in pictoral style by sending a portrait of himself in the costume of a grenadier, sitting near a stove with his feet in hot water, and his head bound up.—[London World.

PRAISE SERVICE,

—ON—

Sunday Evening,

AT 6 O'CLOCK.

AN ACROSTIC.

When an aesthetic young lady of town,

Made her way to the shops of renown,
Into Farrow's jewelry store,
Looking his Christmas goods o'er,
There his "too too" low prices she found.
Oh! then she cried, as she dimpled her chin,
Not too fast, Mr. F., but let us begin.

First of all, here are clocks for $1 or more,
And good timekeepers, too, "Are you sure?
Are you sure?"
Reliable watches, stem wind and stem set,
Remember! six dollars, the lowest price yet.
Oh! oh! oh! What forks and spoons, and knives for butter;
Why, such ridiculously low prices are "too utterly utter!"

Only look at these napkin rings going at cost,
Plated and silver, with bead work and frost;
Those are just lovely, "too beautifully too;"
In the light they now flash, they are so bright and so new.
Can you think of such prices for gold bands
and rings?
It seems that as presents, all are fond of such things.
And these chains and necklets—do tell me
the price?
Now that will suit Nannie, with locket so nice.

Just look at these charms, these pendants,
these pins,
Enough, Mr. Farrow, my head nearly spins,
With the goods, and the prices, your own
kind attention,
Each impression I now so aesthetically mention,
Leaves but one choice, with those who want to buy,
Each Christmas as it rolls around when time
is on the fly,
Remembrances, and other gifts, "thanks,
thanks, most awfully."

MY WIFE'S NEW FRIEND.

Mrs Jones has quite a habit of cultivating sudden friendships, which have every appearance of blooming eternally, but which soon wither in the world's cold blasts. I used to think this characteristic was confined to school girls, who swear immortal fidelity in letters crossed and recrossed, but forget each other as soon as they have caught a lover.

My wife's last acquisition, in the way of a bosom friend, is Mrs. Mortimer Mowbray, with whom she became acquainted last summer, while we were boarding out of town.

Mrs. Mortimer Mowbray had her carriage with her, and created quite a sensation; in fact, every lady in the house was eager to become her confidante; but the amiable deportment of Mrs. Jones, combined, I doubt not, with her accomplishments, rendered her the favorite; and she it was who daily occupied the spare seat in the coach, and had the honor of advising Mrs. Mowbray in those thousand grave perplexities under which women suffer.

We returned to the city after the Mowbrays, but my wife, although usually very firm on questions of etiquette, waved her privileges on this occasion, and made the first call. She was graciously received and came home in high spirits.

All that evening she could do nothing but talk of Mrs. Mortimer Mowbray. "Such an elegant establishment," she said. "A footman, with manners like a prince, waited at the door. The drawing room was the perfection of luxury and taste. Mrs. Mowbray had on such a sweet cap, and altogether looked so ladylike. Her manners were, indeed, most aristocratic, just what one would suppose those of a countess to be."

In a few days Mrs. Mowbray returned my wife's call, coming in a shining new carriage, and with a new span of horses. Her equipage created quite a sensation in our street.

Mrs. Jones, soon after this, began to act as if brooding over some vast design, which not being quite matured, she deemed it wise to be silent respecting. At last, however, the mighty secret was gently broached.

"I was thinking, Jones," she said, one night, just as I was composing myself to sleep, on my pillow, "that we ought to give a party. Not a regular ball, indeed, but a select entertainment, where a few congenial minds may be brought together. I should so like to introduce my dear Mrs. Mowbray to some of the choicest of our set."

Now I detest parties large or small, but as the delicacy of my wife's nerves does not allow of her being thwarted, I made no objection to the proposal, though I sighed to myself.

"Of course, my dear," I said, "you know best."

"We'll ask about thirty," continued my wife, warming with the subject. "There's Mrs. Wharton, and Mrs. Horace Shinn, and Mrs. Price, and the three Misses Trelawneys," and thus the dear creature ran on until she had mentioned about forty names, and I saw that her "select party of congenial souls" was going to be, after all, a crowded rout.

"You have forgotten the two Misses Howell," I said at last, when my wife stopped for want of breath.

The two Misses Howell were amiable, intelligent and pretty girls, in whom I took a particular interest, because their father had once been an extensive shipping merchant, but having been reduced and died bankrupt, the sisters were compelled to earn a livelihood by standing in a store. They had numerous rich relations on whom they might have billeted themselves, but, with a spirit of proper independence, they preferred to work for their maintenance, instead of eating the bread of charity. I had long nourished a romantic idea of seeing them married well, and had consequently made it a point always to invite them to our parties; to praise them highly to the young gentlemen here, and in every other indirect way to assist in realizing my pet scheme.

My wife, heretofore, had seconded me in my benevolent plan; but on the present occasion she hesitated to reply, and I knew at once that there was something the matter.

"Ahem!" she said at last, clearing her throat. "Ahem! The Misses Howell are very nice girls, to be sure that is, in their place—but as it is to be a select party, and as I have already mentioned rather too many, and as Mrs. Mowbray may not want to meet all kinds of people, and as ——"

"Stop, my dear," said I, with a sigh, for I saw that my favorites were not to be invited, "you have given reasons enough. It is a great pity, though." And I sighed again—a sigh eloquent of passive resignation.

My wife heard my sighs, and her tender heart was touched. She paused a moment in embarrassment, and perhaps even revolved the idea of yielding to my wishes, but in the end she raised herself on her elbow, and said:—

"Mr. Jones, do listen to reason. You don't know how foolish you make yourself about those Howell girls. They've been unfortunate, to be sure; and they're very passable indeed; but there's a prejudice, you are aware, against girls who stand in stores; and who knows but what Mrs. Mowbray would take offense at my inviting such persons to meet her? I shouldn't like to do it, indeed, without first asking her; and I can't do that this time. She's very particular and so excessively high bred."

"Then I don't think she'd regard you the less, my dear," I ventured to say, "for being acquainted with two such excellent girls as Patty and Lizzie Howell."

"Mr. Jones, don't be a child," replied my wife, flinging herself to the other side of the bed. At your age you should know something of the world. Exclusive people, like Mrs. Mowbray, don't care to meet nobodies. She was very choice, as you say, as to whom she admitted to her acquaintance this summer; I may say, indeed, that I am the only one of all she met whom she recognizes now."

To have protracted the conversation would have excited my wife's nerves and deprived her of sleep, so I said no more, but closed my eyes and courted slumber anew. I have no recollection of anything after that, till I awoke the next morning, and leaving Mrs. Jones abed, as usual, went down to see that the fires were right, and to do the marketing while the breakfast was being prepared.

The invitations to the party were issued that week, Mrs. Mortimer Mowbray graciously promising to attend.

When the important evening arrived, my wife was all nerves. At every ring of the bell the color rose to her face with expectation; but guest after guest entered without Mrs. Mowbray appearing. Her nervousness soon began to change to anxiety, and this, as the hours wore on, to dissapointment and dismay. She delayed the supper for a full hour, thinking that her friend might yet arrive; but in vain.

"What can be the matter, I wonder?" She said to me, as soon as we were alone, "I hope the dear babe is well. Perhaps, however, Mrs. Mowbray is herself sick. Dear me, I am afraid I shall not sleep for anxiety. The first thing I'll do tomorrow will be to call on Mrs. Mowbray and see what is the matter."

"Wouldn't that be against etiquette?" I ventured to ask. "It seems to me that Mrs. Mowbray should send you a note, or message, or something of that sort, at least, to apologize for her absence."

Mrs. Jones did not reply in words, but she gave me a look. And such a look! It expressed all the indignation which her outraged bosom felt at having the slightest suspicion cast upon her friend.

When I came home to dinner that day, I saw at a glance that something had occurred to ruffle my wife's nerves. She had nothing whatever to say to me, but she scolded the servants and children incessantly. I was too wise to inquire what was wrong. I know that Mrs. Jones, if she thought proper, would tell me; and if not, that idle questions would only aggravate her secret troubles.

But the next day, having heard something that cast light on Mrs. Mowbray's absence from our party, I could not contain myself when I came home.

"Did you ever hear, my love," I said as I began to carve the turkey at dinner, "that the Misses Howell had a married sister?"

Mrs. Jones looked sharply up, as if she suspected I meant more than I said, and then answered laconically.

"I heard it casually, but never asked further."

"It seems," I continued, "that Mrs. Mortimer Mowbray is that sister."

"I have heard so since," said Mrs. Jones, sharply; and, turning to our second child, who was asking for the wing bone, she rapped him over the head, exclaiming tartly:—"Haven't I told you to wait until you were helped? Take that now, and learn manners.

I allowed a minute and more to elapse, in order that my wife's ebullition might subside, when I remarked:—

"Mrs. Mowbray, it seems, expected to meet her sisters here."

"I shouldn't wonder if she did," snappishly said Mrs. Jones, looking down in her plate, and apparently absorbed in parting a wing joint.

"When she found," I continued, "that her sisters were not asked, she grew indignant. She heard the reason, it seems. Your friend, Mrs. Warton, whom you had made a confidant, told somebody, who told her and hence her anger."

"I am sure I don't care if don't see the proud thing again," said my wife, reddening very much, but still without looking up. "One could not have supposed that she was a sister to the Misses Howell."

After another pause, I said:—

"Did you call on Mrs. Mowbray, as you intended?"

Mrs. Jones was silent for a full minute, and seemed half disposed to decline answering altogether, but finally she blurted out her reply, as follows:—

"Yes, I did, since you must know. And she wasn't in. So, at least, the footman said; but if I didn't see her at the drawing-room window," and here she burst into tears of mortification and rage, "may I never eat another mouthful."

I saw that it would not do to continue the conversation; so I quietly ate my dinner, kissed the children, and, like the Christian in "The Pilgrim's Progress," went my way.

Of course the intimacy of my wife with Mrs. Mowbray ceased from the date of that fatal party; and, I am sorry to say, that the Misses Howell also have, as the phrase goes, "cut our acquaintance."

HOSTETTER'S

BITTERS

A remedy with such a reputation as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters deserves a fair trial. If you are dyspeptic, your malady will eventually yield to it; if you are feeble, lack flesh and feel despondent, it will both build and cheer you up; if you are constipated, it will relieve, and if bilious, healthfully stimulate your liver. Don't despond, but make this effort in the right direction.

Winthrop Wrought-Iron Furnace!

Has been in use for the past seven years, and given entire satisfaction. I offer it to the public as the most desirable furnace on the market. Special attention is called to the new dust-flue damper and revertible flues, that are not found in the other wrought-iron furnaces. The dust-flue damper prevents escape of dust when shaking down; the revertible flues cause the flames to sweep the entire surface of the wrought-iron drum, thereby securing much greater radiation of heat, and consequently a great saving in fuel. Cost less to keep in repair than any other furnaces. Are powerful heaters, with moderate consumption of coal. I have sold over 70 in this city. Sold by

OUR CONTINENT

A new illustrated Literary Weekly Journal, neither Political nor Sectarian; Conducted by Albion W. Tourgee, author of "A Fool's Errand," etc., assisted by Daniel G. Brinton and Robert S. Davis.

FIRST NUMBER ISSUED FEBRUARY 1, 1882.

The most distinguished authors and skillful artists, both American and English, have been engaged by "OUR CONTINENT." The February numbers contain novels and stories by Helen Campbell, Mrs. Alexander, E. P. Roe, Julian Hawthorne, John Habberton, R. H. Davis, etc.; poems by Oscar Wilde, Louise Chandler Moulton, G. H. Boker, Sidney Lanier, G. P. Lathrop, Celia Thaxter, etc.; entertaining sketches by C. G. Leland, (Hans Breitmann) D. G. Mitchell, (Ik Marvel) Felix Oswald, etc.; solid papers by President Porter of Yale, Eliot of Harvard, Provost Pepper, of University of Pennsylvania, etc.; fashion notes by Kate Field; art illustrations by Louis C. Tiffany; science by Profs. Rothrock, Barker, etc.; social etiquette by Mrs. Moulton; rural improvements by Hon. B. G. Northrop; fun and humor by C. H. Clark, (Max Adler) "Uncle Remus" and a host of others.

BEAUTIFUL ILLUSTRATIONS are a leading feature of "OUR CONTINENT." They are the finest that art can produce and equal to the most perfect in the monthlies.

Price 10 cents a number; $4 a year; $2 six months. Mailed free of postage to any address. Specimen copy free.

NEWSDEALERS will find it to their interest to present "OUR CONTINENT" to their customers.

POSTMASTERS are invited to take subscriptions. Liberal commission.

The Science of Life, or Self-Preservation, is the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single of either sex can either require or wish to know, but what is fully explained. In short, the book is invaluable to all who wish for good health.—(Toronto Globe.

The book for young and middle-aged men to read just now is the Science of Life, or Self-Preservation. It is worth many times its weight in gold.—(Medical Times.

The author of the Science of Life is a noble benefactor. He reaches the very roots and vitals of disease, and is enabled to apply thorough remedies. The book already is read upon both continents by millions.—(London Lancet.

The Gold and Jeweled Medal awarded the author of the Science of Life was fairly won and worthily bestowed.—(Mass. Ploughman.

Thousands of extracts similar to the above could be taken from the leading Journals—literary, political, religious and scientific throughout the land.

This book is guaranteed to do better medical work, in every sense, than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.
